PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Kenya is a country in East Africa; it is bisected by the Equator and is home to savannah, lake-lands, the dramatic Rift Valley, mountain highlands and a coastline on the Indian Ocean. It is famed for its scenic landscapes and vast wildlife preserves, but its human history is just as remarkable as its natural heritage. Kenya has been an independent nation-state for just over half a century, but its diverse human history dates back many centuries, from the earliest hominids who lived millions of years ago, to the Nilotic and Bantu migrations and the settlement of Arab traders on the coast in the first century AD.

One of the country's two official languages, Kiswahili, has both Bantu and Arabic origins that demonstrate this history, while the second, English, is evocative of its colonial past. The country is home to one of the fastest-growing economies in Africa and relies heavily on tourism. It is Africa's original safari destination and shares the world-famous great Wildebeest migration with its neighbor, Tanzania. Kenya is a well known athletics powerhouse. It is home of the legendary distance runner and two time Olympic champion Kipchoge Keino, as well as standout sprinter Ferdinand Omanyala.

This program will provide participants with an immersive overview of East Africa's healthiest economy while examining issues of local and global concern. The program will take an interdisciplinary approach, introducing participants to subjects such as public health, energy, transportation, media technology, and education. Participants will engage with local professionals and knowledge contributors to learn about the commercial, political and social networks shaping life in Kenya. They will also gain insight into how global issues impact Kenya and the East African region, and the role that major public institutions play in handling this impact. Interactions with local communities are integrated throughout the program to promote relationship building, transnational networking through cultural exchange, and active two-way learning.

Guided by EDU Africa's five transformation goals, this program is designed to encourage holistic growth.

TRANSFORMATIVE LEARNING JOURNEYS

The organizers aim to promote the process of transformation by utilizing the unique context of Africa to help participants broaden their intellectual horizons and grow personally, cross-culturally, professionally, and as global citizens.

- Intercultural Competence (IC)
- Global Citizenship (GC)
- Personal Growth (PG)
- Professional Development (PD)
- Intellectual Growth (IG)

LEARNING OUTCOMES

By the end of this program, participants should be able to:

1. Demonstrate increased knowledge of other cultures and socio-political perspectives (IC/GC)
2. Demonstrate an ability to recognize and engage effectively with others across differences (IC/PG)
3. Demonstrate increased personal self-awareness (PG)
4. Learn and practice techniques for effective intercultural group work (IC/PD)
5. Demonstrate increased knowledge about Kenya's critical institutions in the areas of public health; media, technology and education; transportation; tourism and energy (IG)
6. Expand their understanding of the commercial, political and social networks shaping life in East Africa's healthiest economy (IG)
7. Relate the impacts of foreign policy decisions taken in the United States, China, and other industrialized nations on Kenya and the East Africa region (GC)

LOCAL PROGRAM FACILITATOR AND/OR GUIDE

EDU Africa has been selected as the primary program designer and local program facilitator.

All EDU Africa programs are implemented by trusted program facilitators and/or guides. The organization's program facilitators and guides undergo an intensive 12-module training series. The training modules include details on EDU Africa's transformation goals, reflective practices, emergency procedures, child protection policies and communication skills, among other elements. EDU Africa sources and carefully selects facilitators and guides from the region to ensure that they can effectively meet specific program themes and needs. Their embodiment of EDU Africa's values of friendliness, collaboration, innovation, stewardship, and learning helps them to holistically support both leaders and participants throughout their program. This guarantees that the planned itinerary and activities come to life. The assigned program facilitator/s and/or guides will be available at all times to assist with any program participant and/or educator needs, thus ensuring the smooth running of the program.

ACCOMMODATION

Co-operative Retreat and Conference Centre

Co-operative Retreat and Conference Centre (CRCC) is a modern conferencing facility located in the Karen Hardy suburb of Nairobi. The Centre is located within the Co-operative University of Kenya grounds, having been established in 2004 as a revenue generating initiative for the university. The Retreat and Conference Centre has 65 single and double/twin rooms in four blocks, with an open courtyard in the middle where guests can sit and enjoy the sun. Each room has an ensuite bathroom as well as a flat-screen TV with satellite TV stations, a hot shower and bathtub, mosquito netting, an iron and a work station. Complimentary Wi-Fi is accessible in the rooms as well as in the conference halls. Delicious three-course meals are served at the Centre’s restaurant in buffet style thereby allowing for self service. Laundry services are available at the Centre at an extra cost.

Sovereign Hotel

Founded in 2013, The Sovereign Hotel is a 5-star boutique hotel, aiming to offer unprecedented luxury and quality in Kisumu. Located within easy reach of the business district, but away from the bustle of town, it combines security and convenience in one location. The Sovereign Hotel caters to the most discerning clientele by offering a complete package of facilities to suit all categories of travelers. The coffee shop and the poolside café provide guests with a variety of food and drinks to choose from. The poolside area with its potted plants, sun beds and covered terrace is a pleasant place to unwind after a dip in the pool or workout in the gym.

Kenya Bay Beach Hotel

Kenya Bay Beach Hotel is located just eight miles from the coastal town of Mombasa. The hotel is beautifully set among Frangipani and Bougainvillea with some of the most breathtaking views of the Indian Ocean. The hotel has one of the largest beach frontages on the world-famous sandy Bamburi beach. An ocean-front pool under the shade of the palm trees that dot the well-manicured gardens can be enjoyed at any time of the day. All rooms are air-conditioned, have private balconies attached, and have bathrooms with large showers. Well-staffed, family-friendly, and comfortable restaurants overlooking the ocean serve many delicacies. From the hotel, a variety of places and activities of interest for engagement around Mombasa, including the nearby Bamburi Haller Park, can be accessed with ease.

CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

EDU Africa Orientation

EDU Africa offers a comprehensive orientation session at the start of the program to kickstart participants' acclimation period and prepare them for transformation. It is led by the local Program Facilitator who will support the group for the duration of their stay. The orientation is designed to give participants a brief introduction to their surroundings, contextualize the country setting, and provide information that is pertinent to the group’s safety and overall experience throughout the program. It furthermore foregrounds the learning experience(s) to follow by outlining EDU Africa’s transformative learning framework. The Program Facilitator will typically provide tour participants with an outline of the program at this stage and review roles, responsibilities and expectations with the group while in-country.

Interactive Lectures

Program Participants will attend interactive lectures and talks every weekday for the duration of the program, some of which will be given by local guest academics and professionals. These lectures will be content-based and will lay some imperative foundations for the more experiential aspects of the program. Each module will focus on a central topic, namely media, technology and education; public health; transportation and tourism and energy.

M-KOPA Solar

M-KOPA is an asset financing platform that offers access to life-enhancing products and services to underbanked customers in Kenya. In 2012, the company pioneered the pay-as-you-go solar market where customers get instant access to products while building ownership over time through flexible micro-payments. The company has since diversified the number of products and services they offer, though the solar market is still its core product. This has resulted in over 1 million customers getting access to solar lighting, energy-efficient televisions, fridges, and charcoal cookers, and a healthier, wealthier and more productive populace. Study tour participants will visit M-KOPA Solar and learn more about their work in making solar products more accessible and affordable, especially in the rural parts of Kenya.

Focus on Africa Public Forum

In collaboration with the Kenya Diaspora Alliance (KDA), The Co-operative University of Kenya (CUK) and a Nairobi based news agency (tba), ACREF will co-host a one-day public forum on the CUK campus - during the second week of the study tour. The audience for the live event will include CUK students, staff and faculty; representatives of non-governmental organizations, public servants, members of the media and invited guests. The theme of meeting is: “Where Do We Go From Here?: Africans and Americans in Tryin’ Times”.

The meeting will focus on the major topics explored throughout the study tour and will seek to define areas of common interest between Kenya and the United States. Incorporating panel discussions, question and answer periods, and possibly breakout sessions, the forum will be conducted in an atmosphere that stresses academic integrity, personal respectfulness, and community building across the boundaries of class, ethnicity, gender, and nationality. A panel of distinguished guests, selected by the forum co-hosts will participate in the discussion. It is anticipated that speakers will include representatives from the legal, political, financial, medical, technology, and business communities. The forum will be recorded – with highlights edited for distribution via a variety of outlets (Public Television, YouTube, Twitter, web pages, etc.). These presentations will provide positive reflections of contemporary Kenya - and of the East Africa region - to audiences in North America and throughout the world. A live stream of the plenary session will be presented by The AFRICAN CONNECTIONS Channel - the digital content delivery service of The AFRICAN CONNECTIONS Research and Education Fund, Inc.

CO-/EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Swahili Language Lessons

Swahili is the national language of Kenya and Tanzania. It is also widely spoken in a number of Eastern, Central, and South-Eastern African countries. The language is an intricate blend of Bantu languages and Arabic. Further to that, it has a variety of influences from other languages including German, Farsi, Portuguese, and English. In the service of increasing intercultural communication skills, program participants will receive language lessons in Swahili and will have opportunities to put their language skills to practice during engagements with local community members.

Intercultural Competence Workshop

Members of the tour will participate in a workshop on intercultural competence and cultural self-awareness. This will be an open discussion where program participants will talk about the concepts of culture, cultural self-awareness and their importance. They will also be taken through a comprehensive introduction to ideologies of collectivist societies, which are predominant in Kenya, as well as those of largely individualistic America. By exploring their own culture and worldviews and expanding their knowledge of other cultures and worldviews, participants will be better equipped to understand the values and perspectives of the people and communities they will be interacting with during the program. Through these realizations, the concept of intercultural competence will be discussed and a path to increased intercultural competence will be laid.

Walking Orientation of Karen-Hardy Area

A walking orientation is an excellent method through which visitors can get to know the area surrounding the Co-operative Retreat and Conference Centre where they will spend most of their time. Program participants will be taken on a guided walking orientation of the Karen-Hardy community (Greater Nairobi) where sites of historical and cultural importance will be introduced and contextualized.

Home Visit, Cooking Exchange, Early Dinner, and Interactions with Local Families

Food and its preparation are an integral part of any culture and eating together is a greatly valued mark of friendship and partnership. Program participants will join a local Kenyan family in preparing and cooking a traditional meal. Program participants will also be encouraged to prepare a dish from their home context to add to the Kenyan meal in a valuable cooking exchange experience. This process will increase intercultural knowledge and hone cross-cultural communication skills.

Nairobi National Park

Nairobi is Kenya's largest city and a regional hub for East Africa. It is also the only city in the world to boast a 20,000-acre national park, teeming with wildlife, right on its doorstep. Rolling plains, riverine woodland, and thick bush-lined valleys are just some of Nairobi National Park's varied habitats. The park was established in 1946. With its many entrances, it is easily accessible from multiple directions. Its accessibility extends to the wildlife as an unfenced southern boundary provides a welcome dry-season refuge for migratory species. In fact, 4000 zebras, 1000 wildebeest, and 14 species of antelope (including eland and kongoni) all call the Nairobi National Park their home, at one point or another, throughout the year.

An estimated population of nearly 40 lions rub shoulders with good numbers of leopards and spotted hyenas, as well as the occasional cheetah and the elusive aardwolf. The park is also rich in its diversity of bird species with over 500 permanent and migratory species having been recorded. A visit to the park provides an opportunity to observe a conservation success story in the midst of the myriad challenges that threaten wildlife, including urbanization and loss of habitat. They will also gain insights into various conservation initiatives that are in place in this diverse pocket of natural space.

Bomas of Kenya

Located in Nairobi, Bomas of Kenya was established in 1971 with the aim of promoting Kenya's diverse cultures. 'Boma' is Kiswahili for homestead, and Bomas of Kenya is a collection of homesteads from various Kenyan cultures - which together make up a multicultural center. A visit to Bomas of Kenya is an opportunity to increase intercultural competence and to experience an assortment of Kenya cultural practices through dance, live music and traditional performances. A tour of the center provides an opportunity for additional engagement and deeper insight into the cultures of the Kenyan people.

The Kenya Music Festival

The Kenya Music Festival (KMF) is an annual talent development initiative overseen by the Ministry of Education. It is the largest festival of its kind in East and Central Africa. With over 600 competitive categories spanning music, dance, and elocution, it attracts more than 3 million participants from educational institutions nationwide, serving as a platform to instill positive values and address societal issues among the youth.

His Excellency, The President of the Republic of Kenya, serves as the festival's Patron, while an Executive Committee appointed by the Cabinet Secretary manages its affairs, with technical support from the Directorate for Field Coordination and Co-curricular Activities.

Mombasa Marine National Park and Reserve

Mombasa Marine National Park and Reserve is one of Kenya's finest aquatic habitats and a haven for divers, snorkelers, and sea lovers. Lying between Mtwapa and Tudor Creeks, the habitat consists of 210 square kilometers of pristine white sand beaches, reef-protected lagoons, and a wide open sea. It is also renowned for its natural beauty and rich marine life, including crabs, starfish, stonefish, cucumber sea urchins, corals, turtles, sea grasses, and interesting migratory birds including crab plovers.

Haller Park

Haller Park, formerly known as Bamburi Nature Trail, is a nature park in the Bamburi area along the Kenyan coast. It is a perfect example of how a quarry wasteland can successfully be transformed into an ecological area. The park consists of a game sanctuary, a reptile park, a palm garden, crocodile pens, a fish farm demonstration area and a giraffe viewing platform. It is home to a variety of wildlife including hippos, giraffes, buffalo and various antelopes. The Park is an important educational site showcasing the rehabilitation of wasteland.

Fort Jesus and Mombasa Old Town

Fort Jesus is one of the most outstanding and well-preserved examples of 16th Century Portuguese military fortification and a landmark in the history of this type of construction. It was built by the Portuguese between 1593 and 1596 to the designs of Giovanni Battista Cairati to protect the port of Mombasa. The Fort's layout and form reflect the Renaissance ideal that perfect proportions and geometric harmony are to be found in the human body. It was declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 2011 and is now used as a museum, conservation laboratory as well as an education department and primate research center.

Mombasa Old Town is located on the southeastern side of Mombasa next to Fort Jesus, occupying an area of about 180 acres. It is inhabited by a mixed community of Arabs, Portuguese, Asians, and British. Study Tour participants will take a guided walk around the fort and learn more about the history of the area and about the East African slave trade era when the fort was used as a vantage point. They will also enjoy the exhibition of the wide collection of ceramics and pottery reflecting the various cultures that traded along the coast. Participants will also have an opportunity to visit the Mombasa Butterfly House, located on the premises of Fort Jesus and take a guided walk along Mombasa Old Town's narrow streets bordered by old buildings with ornately carved doors and balconies.

PROGRAM EVALUATION

Transformation Questionnaires

EDU Africa's Transformation Questionnaires are pre-and post-test student self-evaluations designed to help gauge their transformation in line with EDU Africa's transformative learning goals. Program Participants complete Transformation Questionnaire #1 at the start of the program, providing a benchmark score against which we compare their results for Transformation Questionnaire #2 (completed at the program's end). A report is drawn from the student data collected and shared with faculty in the weeks after the program has ended.

Reflection Sessions

Reflection sessions encourage program participants to think through, process, and make meaning of their experiences in the program. Through a combination of formal and informal reflection techniques, participants will be asked questions and invited to engage in structured activities that encourage them to articulate their thoughts and feelings, internalize any lessons or moments of growth, and ultimately, transform, in line with the program learning outcomes. Each reflection session will focus on the preceding cultural and academic engagements and experiences. In addition to the formal reflection sessions, participants will be guided through brief informal reflections each day thereby giving them an opportunity to discuss and reflect on their experiences in the course of their engagements. The final reflection sessions will focus on the learnings from the program as a whole and the personal growth demonstrated as a result of the overall experience.

REASONABLE ACCOMMODATIONS FOR FUNCTIONAL DIFFERENCES

Program Organizers are committed to providing an inclusive and accessible environment for all our program participants by supporting functional differences, disabilities, and any other special needs. If participants have any specific needs that we might be able to accommodate during the program or have requirements for extra time or resources, please let us know in advance so that we can do our best to assist them. As part of the pre-departure processes, the Program Designers will ensure that participants complete the Participant Information Form which asks for details of any allergies, medical conditions, and other special needs.

All Saints' Cathedral, Nairobi

PARTICIPANT ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

EDU Africa Program Designers do the best they can to ensure that our programs are accessible to as many participants as possible. However, there may be areas in which an individual may not have access or cannot be accommodated with regard to a functional difference. This section lists some elements for participants to consider before they travel. Participants in this program should be aware of and be prepared for the following:

- Signing and adhering to the policies outlined in EDU Africa's Participant Agreement Form, which include protocols for Notifiable Medical Conditions such as COVID-19.
- Obtaining travel insurance (compulsory) before travel. This should include adequate cover for baggage, curtailment, and provision for any forms of disruptions to travel due to Notifiable Medical Conditions such as COVID-19. Please note that participants who choose not to take out relevant travel insurance must be prepared to directly cover any such expenses as stated above should they arise while they travel.

- Obtaining medical insurance (compulsory) before travel. This should cover any potential medical expenses and the cost of repatriation should participants become too ill to participate, including helicopter rescue and air ambulance services, as well as cover any forms of medical expenses that may be incurred due to illnesses from Notifiable Medical Conditions such as COVID-19. Please note that participants who choose not to take out relevant medical insurance must be prepared to directly cover any such expenses as stated above should they arise while they travel.
- Carrying their own luggage as much as possible to minimize cross-contamination with germs (help will be available when necessary in adherence to any Notifiable Medical Conditions protocols)
- Dealing with ambiguity, for example, there may need to be last-minute unforeseen changes to the program itinerary
- Respecting and adhering to the communicated medical ethics relevant to the institutions they will be visiting or volunteering in
- Committing to ethical community engagement in accordance with the presented guidelines
- Coping with lack of electricity during scheduled and/or unplanned power outages, and any effects that this may have on the itinerary
- Managing dietary needs with limited available options in certain settings e.g. during the home visit and cooking exchange
- Learning to adjust to communicating and interacting with others who may have different accents, values, beliefs, cultures, and traditions for the duration of the program
- Interacting with materially poor environments (as evident, for example, through the appearance of general and housing infrastructure, modes of transport, clothing, etc.) and demonstrating respect and acknowledging dignity in all circumstances
- Being aware that they may be approached by people selling their wares or asking for food or money. While your local facilitator/guide will assist in managing these situations, participants should recognize that it is not impolite to say “no, thank you” and walk away.

ITINERARY FLEXIBILITY AND COST

The itinerary is correct at the time of submission. It is flexible and may be adjusted to meet participants' needs. In all cases, we will do our best to preserve the quality of what is presented herein. However, we reserve the right to modify the itinerary, locations, accommodation facilities and costs if any changes dictate. All quoted accommodation is subject to availability and confirmed numbers. All prices are quoted in U.S. Dollars (USD).

Cost for the program based on per person sharing (double-occupancy):
